ATLANTIC WHITE CEDAR TREE PLANTING

Saturday, March 30, 2019 | 9 am — 2 pm

WHAT

Join the National Aquarium's Conservation team—in partnership with The Nature Conservancy and the Chesapeake Bay Trust—to plant Atlantic white cedar trees, a vulnerable species in Maryland, at Nassawango Creek Preserve. This 15-square-mile preserve includes wetland and upland habitat and is home to 60 species of migratory birds and various rare plant species.

WHERE

Nassawango Creek Preserve
Snow Hill, Maryland
