

SHORERIVERS SEEKS RESTORATION DESIGNER

ShoreRivers seeks a Restoration Designer to assist in delivering restoration and landscape design projects that support our efforts to achieve healthy waterways across Maryland's Eastern Shore. The ideal candidate will be a driven, energetic professional who is enthusiastic about restoring the natural environment and pursuing a career in restoration design. This is an excellent position for an entry/intermediate level engineer/landscape architect wishing to specialize in restoration design and nature-based landscapes.

The Restoration Designer reports to the ShoreRivers Engineer and is part of the Agriculture and Restoration department. This position is based primarily in the Easton office. This is a full-time position; the employee must be flexible to work outdoors in sometimes-harsh terrain and weather and to travel when necessary. The employee must be willing to live in the communities we serve. The employee must be vaccinated against Covid-19 and provide a copy of his or her vaccination card. This position offers a competitive benefits package and a salary range between $45,000-$65,000, based on experience. Position begins in mid-2022.

Applicants should submit a one-page cover letter explaining your interest in nature-based landscape design and/or restoration, and how you believe your education and/or experience makes you suitable for this position. To apply, send resume and cover letter to Ann Frock, Office Manager, at afrock@shorerivers.org by April 22, 2022.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The successful candidate will work alongside the Engineer in the following main areas:

- Assisting with topographic surveys of restoration sites using GIS and Total Station survey equipment.
- Assisting with analysis and design of restoration projects. This includes, but is not limited to, hydrologic analysis of watersheds, design of open channel systems, and wetland water budget calculations.
- Producing construction and permitting drawings and plan sets using Civil 3D, creating schedules of materials, and putting together permit applications.
- Providing landscape design plans for park enhancements, outdoor learning spaces, river-friendly yards, and urban retrofits.
