

ANNAPOLIS MARITIME MUSEUM & PARK Now Hiring!

Annapolis Maritime Museum & Park (AMM) is searching for a part-time educator who loves nature and working with students!

The selected candidate will teach about the Chesapeake Bay, maritime history, and the environment in various settings - including outdoors, on the water, and in traditional classrooms. Some days might involve teaching on their historic boat, Wilma Lee, while other days could include leading activities at AMM's waterfront locations or in school classrooms.

ROLE INVOLVES:

- Teaching students from pre-K through high school about nature and maritime history
- Leading engaging outdoor and indoor activities and field trips
- Helping maintain educational materials and equipment
- Creating effective lesson plans
- Working with a collaborative team

AMM IS LOOKING FOR:

- Experience working with youth
- Knowledge about the environment, biology, or related subjects
- Comfort teaching both outdoors and in classroom settings
- Ability to lift 25 pounds
- Passion for the Chesapeake Bay and its history
- Must pass background check

SCAN THE QR CODE
TO APPLY:

This position pays $18-22 per hour plus money for travel expenses, and runs from February to December 2025. Most work occurs during school days (Monday-Friday), with some weekend opportunities.

QUESTIONS?

Contact Jaclyn Mertz at jmertz@amaritime.org | 410-295-0104 X27